Is Uncle Sam's Word Good?

Bill Simcoe borrows $1,000, and gives his note and a mortgage on his place The security is all right, of course, or he wouldn't have been able to pry loose the $1,000 But behind that stands the fact that the lender had faith in Bill Simcoe's word. "His word is as good as his bond"—that is what the neighbors say of him Faith in Bill Simcoe has as much to do with the transaction as anything else

The United States of America includes Bill Simcoe, and you, and me and 111,000,000 others equally as good as we are Whereas Bill Simcoe's ability to repay what he borrows rests entirely on his farm and his strong right arm, the ability of the United States to pay back what it borrows rests on the earning power of 111,000,000 husky men and women who wear "Stars and Stripes" in their button holes Uncle Sam has the power to tax everyone of the people to make good any promise of payment he makes And the people have 3,000,000 square miles of territory to earn tax money for them, when Uncle Sam calls.

Mr William Hohenzollern knows this and he has started out to conquer the United States, so that he will be able to levy Fifty Billion Dollars of tribute from the American people If he can win the war he will be able to make us pay anything he demands

Now Uncle Sam comes to the people and says "I must borrow some money to beat off the Kaiser I will pay you back in a few years and in the meantime I will give you 4¼ percent interest and certain tax exemptions You won't lose a cent but on the contrary you will have the safest and best investment in the World, holding LIBERTY BONDS"

Do you believe Uncle Sam? Is his word good? Well, you are part of Uncle Sam yourself If you don't believe Uncle Sam you haven't any faith in yourself! MORAL: INVEST IN ALL THE LIBERTY BONDS YOU POSSIBLY CAN.

A large audience assembled in the Red Room of the Hotel La Salle Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to enjoy the benefit concert given under the auspices of the First New Thought Church in behalf of its founder, Chas. Wesley Ryle.

Lillian Thomas Johnston, 1525-9 Kimball Hall, gave great pleasure with her clear, sweet soprano. Millard's "Humbly Before Thee" was her first selection, with violin obligato, ably performed by Leora Pryce Miller. Mrs. Johnston sang this number beautifully and with a highly artistic finish. The difficult cadenza at the close was done with great ease and surety of pitch. Her second number, Parker's "A Gypsy Maiden," glowed with gay rhythm and sparkling abandon. Aside from her singing she has a pleasing appearance, which also wins her audiences.

Miss Louise Smith, prominent 'cellist, rendered three attractive numbers in a very efficient manner.

Mr. Addison H. Briscoe, 1525-7 Kimball Hall, pianist and accompanist, rendered the rarely heard "La Valse des Valses" of the brilliant French concert pianist of a former generation, Gustave A. Satter. Mr. Briscoe also played the Chopin "G Sharp Minor Polonaise" with a fine regard for rhythm, phrasing and variance. His accompaniments were beautifully done and formed the proper artistic background for the soprano, 'cello and violin numbers.

The diminutive danseuse, Byril June Fredericks, was a dream of grace and poetic motion.

The little violinist, Elizabeth Green, received quite an ovation.

Mr. Grandon Cooper, baritone, gave two famous selections, the "Duo Pasenti" (from Faust) and Allitsen's "The Lord Is My Light."

Miss Bernice Ladd, a most gifted reader, scored a great hit in her rendition of Barrie's "The Twelve-Pound Look."

The audience was most cordial and pronounced the occasion a brilliant success.

Mr. Addison Briscoe, an experienced teacher of piano and concert pianist, lives at 6733 Lafayette. Lillian T. Johnston lived here about twenty years and attended grammar and high school and appeared on many programs. She now lives in Garfield Park subdivision.

A sad culmination was the death of Mr. Ryle. His request was to be cremated and the ashes scattered to the four winds.

Mrs. Minnie Sanders of Loomis St. has disposed of her delicatessen business owing to poor health.

The Ladies' Aid of the Evangelical Church, on Sangamon St., near Marquette Road, will hold an apron sale Thursday, April 11th, in the church parlors, at 6640 Sangamon St. Coffee and cake.

Mr. Joseph Brown of Pittsburgh, Pa., made a short visit with Englewood relatives 14-1 Thursday while here on a business trip.

St. Ita's Court, W. C. O. F., held a bunco party in Boardman's Hall last Thursday evening.

Harold E. Durkee, twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Durkee, 6240 Normal Blvd., was the winner of the silver loving cup in the song contest at the Marbowe Theater, 63rd and Stewart Ave. Tuesday night, March 26th. The cup is presented to the best singer, which is decided by the audience. The Marbowe Theater has a song contest every Tuesday evening, and the winner of the first prizes enters in the loving cup contest every four weeks.

Bits of Byplay

By Luke McLuke

Copyright, 1915, the Cincinnati Enquirer

Huh!

Said a skinny young woman named Gadders,
Who is one of our best little padders:
"I may not be fat
In my limbs; but, bless Pat,
My hose never gets Jacob's ladders!"

Giddap!

"Bronx is always blowing about New York being a patriotic town," said the boob. "What is so patriotic about it?"

"Why it has some red lights, a White Way and blue laws," explained the wise guy.

Everybody's Doing It.

The hound dog said: "Oh, woe is me!
I'm humbled, but no richer.
For they have traded me, you see,
For a left handed pitcher."

Wry.

"The grouch always has a wry look on his face," said the old fogy.

"Yes," replied the wise guy. "I have often noticed his nose."

Making Light of Them

A carefree man is William Torr,
He laughs at all his ills;
He makes light of his troubles for
He always burns his bills.

Ouch!

"It certainly is touch to have freckles," sighed the crook.

"Why?" asked the cop.

"No matter how I try to cover up, I am always spotted," replied the crook.

Last.

A cobbler's wife once said to me
"My husband has a past,
But he is good now, although he
Is not too good to last."

Putting on City Airs.

Our popular merchant, Mr. Eli Young, has added a few more chairs and nail kegs around the stove in his store for the benefit of the sons of eternal rest. He is also contemplating starting a soup house. Why not? Other large cities have them.—McCreary County (Ky.) Democrat.

Now You Are Saying Something.

Luke McLuke says the word whisky had its origin in the Irish word "uisque." It is not the origin so much as the destination of whisky that demands so much attention and gives so much worry.—Houston Post.

The Wise Fool.

"You should always be sure that you are right," observed the sage.

"And then let in the clutch," added the fool.

We Remember Him.

Dear Luke—What has become of the old fashioned man who always wore patches of newspaper on his chin after he got through shaving himself?—R. F. A.

That's Nice.

Dear Luke—Minnie Swears lives in our town, but she never used a cuss word in her life.—Owensboro, Ky.

Things to Worry About.

The jam of Nawawanager has joined the allies.

Daily Health Hint.

Do not use an ice pick to remove wax from the ear.

Luke McLuke Says:

When you see a scared looking man wearing a tie that is as quiet as a steam calliope you can bet that his wife bought it for him because it matches the prayer rug in the front room.

Some women marry to get even with some other girl and then spend the rest of the time getting even with the mutt they married.

A woman is always a woman. Her daily grind may be a parade between the kitchen and the dining room with food for a husband and six children. But when she gets a moment of leisure she likes to sit down and read a story in which handsome Harold Chalmers gathers beautiful Beatrice Benefice into his strong arms and showers passionate kisses on her face and hair.

What has become of the old fashioned girl who used to hoist her skirts with one hand and who pulled the skirt tight in the back so as to give herself a bustle effect when she was walking?

When the seat of a man's pants is shining he isn't worrying much about his chances of shining in society.

A princess knows that a fellow has brains if his hair is curly.

When mother wants to be nice to father she will get up early and sew a button on his pants. And then father will get up and raise Cain because some one swiped two bits out of one of the pockets.

It takes an optimist to size up a window display of bust forms, hip and other pads and other scenic props and then meet a girl on the street and believe that her shape is just what nature gave her.

It takes a woman three minutes to frisk through the junk in her handbag to locate a nickel. But she doesn't have to hunt through about a dozen pockets when she wants anything, and a man does.

The soulful maiden is interested in the color of his eyes. But the wise widow is interested in the color of his coin.

A girl won't believe it, but the pretty fellow with the dimples isn't as apt to succeed as the homely fellow with lots of cheek.

Korea Eats Rice With a Spoon.

While China and Japan take rice with chopsticks, Korea eats here with a spoon. Prediction is that the next step will usher in the broad fork. "Whence comes this peculiarity?" asks the Korea Magazine. "One reason is that in the Analects of Confucius a record exists that the master ate his millet not with chopsticks, but with a spoon. Every saying that pertains to Confucius is reverently regarded in Korea, and the people of that land would rather follow the master than present day custom."—East and West News.

The Servian Swineherd.

In any Servian village there is only one swineherd, and he leads all the pigs of the community. In the morning he goes through the streets blowing his horn, and the pigs come out of their own accord and fall in behind him and follow him to the pasture. At night he brings them home, and they disperse to their sties in the same orderly way as they pass the houses to which they belong. They require no attention and no singling out.

Southern Mangrove.

The rhizophora mangle, the southern mangrove, is most curious in propagation. The seed sends forth a shoot that really comes through the seed and grows to a foot long. It then falls away and strikes, root end down, in the mud and is at once a plant.

She Got the Idea.

He—I say, Dolly, may I take your photograph? You look so pretty that I feel I could eat you! She—Oh, I see! that's why you want me on a plate, eh?

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Bites and Stings.

In case of a sting of any kind the first thing to do, of course, is to remove the sting. This can best be done with the point of a knife or needle, but care should be taken not to break the skin for fear of infection. Then the next best thing, perhaps, is to apply ammonia water or soda water to the affected parts.

In case of bites, as well as of stings when the sting is removed, as a rule a paste of common baking soda applied to the affected parts or these bathed in ammonia water is all that is necessary. Where the poisonous effect is severe, however, send for a doctor. In the meantime the patient should lie down and keep quiet.

An application of a 50 per cent solution of a saturate solution of potassium permanganate which you get at the drug store is very efficient for insect poisons and for the poisons of plants, too, such as poison ivy and sumac.

Eye Deal.

"My fellow is real nice to me,
He sells glass eyes," said Fan;
"He's just as fine as he can be,
He is an ideal man."

Mean Brute!

"Mrs Blank is very fond of animals," remarked Mrs Gabb

"Yes," growled Mr Gabb "I notice that she's always making a monkey out of her husband"

Huh!

"She is a picture," said young Bilan.
"Her beauty is refined,
And yet at times I find her in
An ugly frame of mind."

Paw Knows Everything.

Willie—Paw, does a botanist know as much about flowers as a florist?

Paw—Yes, my son But he doesn't know as much about the prices people will pay for them.

Hot and Cold.

He's nervy when he wins a pot,
But he s not hard to beat,
So when the game gets too blame hot,
He always gets cold feet

Slow.

"Why do you state that women are slower than men?" demanded the suffragette

"It takes most of them forty years to reach the age of thirty," replied the Grouch

Wood That Is Wasted.

There are more than 48,000 sawmills in the United States, and their output of waste in the form of sawdust, shavings, slabs and other wood refuse is estimated at 36,000,000 cords a year This is equal to 4,500,000,000 cubic feet of waste, which is the capacity of a bin one-half mile high with a base covering a forty acre lot.

NEW DEATH TESTS.

How to Tell When Life Has Actually Ceased.

An Italian scientist describes the following three new methods of determining the cessation of life:

The first is the ether test. A drop of ether is instilled into the conjunctival sac of one eye. If this is followed by a reddening of the conjunctiva it affords proof that the circulation is intact and that life is still present The other eye is used as a control

The second test consists in the subcutaneous injection of fluorescin, which, if the individual is still living, is soon followed by a yellowish coloring of the skin, and mucous membrane of the mouth and particularly of the frenum of the tongue show this coloration most distinctly. A negative result is obtained in cases of marked slowing or enfeeblement of the circulation.

The third test consists in direct exploration of the heart by means of a stylet This is introduced through a small incision in one of the intercostal spaces. Any movement in the heart is communicated to the stylet.

How to Walk and Grow Thin is the Main Question.

Here is a simple method to reduce weight which has been used with great success·

Rise early and take a half hour walk in the air, walking a steady but alert gait On returning home drink a cupful of hot water with plenty of salt After a light breakfast, leaving the table not quite satisfied, take a hand working vacuum cleaner or carpet sweeper with a long handle and keep up a steady, long reaching movement This reduces the tops of the arms and removes the fat about the neck Then take a duster and dust the legs of chairs and stretch to the tops of doors to get a steady bending and stretching movement The treatment takes about two hours a morning, and by abstemious eating and occasional cupfuls of hot water with salt during the day, also one on retiring, the desired result is obtained and the health improved

An Odd Moorish Custom.

As a people the Moors are already well inclined to anything that gilds life. A correspondent says "Nothing delights them more as a means of agreeably spending an hour or two than squatting on their heels in the streets or on some door stoop, gazing at the passersby, exchanging compliments with their acquaintances Native 'swells' consequently promenade with a piece of felt under their arms, on which to sit when they wish."—London Spectator

Capable Housewives.

"Plenty of modern girls know how to clean and mend"

"Just as their grandmothers did, eh?"

"Well, they know how to mend a tire and clean a spark plug."—Louisville Courier Journal

Air in a Tunnel.

When a train goes through a tunnel the resistance of the air is an important factor, experiments having demonstrated that it measures 13 86 pounds per ton of train weight in the Simplon tunnel, as against only 8 8 pounds in the open air, a difference of over 50 per cent This is when the train is running at thirty-seven miles an hour in the direction of the ventilating air current; when running in the opposite direction the resistance increases to 20 46 pounds.

First American Peerage.

It is recorded in a history of the United States that an Indian chief named Manto after baptism was made a peer, receiving the rank of baron and assuming the title of Lord of Roanoke so far back as the year 1587 Somewhat later, in 1609, the title of Lord Delaware was granted by James I. to the new governor of Virginia Later still, in 1633, Charles I, among his coronation honors, conferred the title of Viscount Canada upon Sir William Alexander.

Queer Pets.

Probably the oddest passenger ever seen in a public vehicle was the pet bear that Frank Buckland would frequently take for drives in a four wheeler Quite recently the present writer saw a lady passenger in an omnibus fondling a chimpanzee, a man in a train with a large pet rat peeping out of his side pocket, while a parrot enjoying a free tram ride perched on his master's shoulder is not at all an uncommon sight in a northern suburb—London Chronicle

Uncle Sam's Belt.

The total area of the canal zone, which includes all the land and water within five miles on either side of the center line of the canal, but does not include the area within the three mile limit on the Atlantic and Pacific ends of the canal, is 441½ square miles, of which the land area is 332 35 square miles The area of Gatun lake within the five mile limit is 106 4 miles, the area of Miraflores lake 1 9 miles and the area of the canal channel itself 85 mile The area was given in 1911 as 448 square miles, which was correct at that time, but by a treaty proclaimed Feb 18, 1915, an area of six and one half square miles adjoining Panama city was ceded to Panama in exchange for two small tracts, one of them in the city of Colon, on which one of the defense batteries of the canal is situated The same treaty gave the Panama canal administration control of all the waters of Gatun lake outside of the five mile limit and all land adjoining the lake up to the hundred foot contour line, adding sixty one square miles to the 441½ miles within the zone, making the area of the canal zone and controlled territory 502½ square miles.—Christian Herald.

Elephants Can't Jump.

"There is one thing no one has ever seen an elephant do, either in a circus or out of it, and that is to jump," said a keeper in the zoo.

"The fact is an elephant cannot jump Because of his great weight he cannot take all four feet off the ground at once. He can make a 100 yard dash at the rate of twenty miles an hour, which is going some but if he was pursuing an enemy and came to a deep ditch eight feet across he would have to stop short, because it is too wide for him to step it, and he is unable to jump An elephant is a great coward He will have a fit if a rabbit runs between his feet. He has tremendous strength, but he doesn t know it."

An Innocent Offender.

A rather amusing story of the art of making beds was related recently by a speaker at a women's meeting.

She was visiting a friend, and, being naturally neat and helpful, or thinking she was, she went up to her bedroom and made up the bed Later on, when it came time for her to depart, her hostess came into her room and upon viewing the bed exclaimed. "Mercy! That maid I have is awful! Just look at that bed!"

Lacking the courage to explain, the visitor hastened away. Later she wrote to her friend in this manner after admitting her guilt "I made up that bed after a recipe in the Ladies' Busy Bee, and it refused to jell."

Bridges.

The only mention of a bridge in the canonical Scriptures is indirectly in the principality of Geshur, a district to the northeast of the sea of Galilee At this place a bridge is said to exist still which is called by the Arabs 'the bridge of the sons of Jacob" The Romans are credited with being the first constructors of arched bridges over streams

A Friend.

There are two elements that go to the composition of friendship, each so sovereign that I detect no superiority in either, no reason why either should be the first named One is truth A friend is a person with whom I can be sincere The other element of friendship is tenderness. Why You Have Gooseflesh In Chilly Temperatures.

Gooseflesh is nothing more or less than a contracting of the muscles under the skin This causes the tiny blood vessels also to contract and drives the blood out The skin tightens, and this acts directly on the hair follicles, which are always at an angle with the skin and not directly inward Therefore as the skin exerts a pull the angle is changed and the hair is made to stand straight up As the growth of hair on the body is so slight the hair follicles are clearly visible and what we term gooseflesh is the result But it is nothing more or less than the hair standing on end

Why We Hear More Clearly on a Frosty Night

EXPOSED WATER PIPES

How to Keep Them From Freezing In Cold Weather

Exposed water pipes are apt to freeze in winter, causing much annoyance, which may be prevented by covering them with the following mixture, says a contributor to Popular Science Monthly To a solution of thin boiled starch add sawdust until the mixture forms a thick paste A fine sieve may be used to clear this sawdust from lumps

Heavy cord is first wrapped around the pipe spacing the turns about one-half inch A one quarter inch layer of the mixture is smeared on and allowed to dry, then a second layer is put on and smoothed up The string acts as an anchor to make the coating adhere to the pipe closely Whitewash or paint may be used to give a finish for inside pipes, but for outside work cover the coating with hot tar If it is desired to have a very neat covering wrap the sawdust coating with cloth or canvas, applying it in narrow strips like a bandage and painting the outside surface An even coating of the sawdust is necessary when covering with cloth

Some men waste half their lives sitting around and regretting that life is so short

No matter how well you are doing your work, there are always a lot of people loafing around who can tell you how to do it better.

It doesn't take much to start a battle in any well regulated home When mother is reading the paper she will exclaim "Well, of all things! What do you know about that?" And father will say, "Know about what?" And mother will announce that Mrs Blinks brother s wife s niece is married And father will want to know what in Sam Hill he cares if Tom, Dick and Harry's grandmother got married And mother will get mad and tell father that if it was one of his ornery, no account, porch climbing relatives he would be shouting the news all over town And then father will get mad and go out and slam the door and kick the cat off the front porch

Madge is clever everyone knows that—so it isn't surprising, to find her spouting forth as the Authoress of a book Maybe she will write one some day but this one happens only in the picture Oh Goo! what the cuties did to that book was a shame But little Madge fought them back and then set out to demonstrate to the world at large that her heroine could do all the things she had made her do in her book The resulting mixups are enough to tickle the most hardened movie fan If you have the spring fever or a bad case of the blues come out today for we are going to make you laugh

Taylor Holmes in A Pair of Sixes

Today is another day we want to make you laugh That is the reason we are going to present Taylor Holmes in his latest Comedy Drama He has never been funnier than he is in this picture and that is saying a good deal The laughs start right at the first reel and unless you're a chronic grouch you won't be able to keep your face straight throughout the entire six reels

The trouble all started because Johns and Nettleton owners of the Digestive Pill Mfg Co couldn t agree and to settle their differences they played a game of poker the winner to run the business the loser to be servant to the other for the period of one year One pal Holmes is the Goat and you can imagine what happens when he assumes the role of valet and butler to Nettleton Added to his troubles there s a caricature of a housemaid who falls in love with him You'll agree with us that it s a dream

THE SON OF DEMOCRACY —MY IMPRESSION OF THE PICTURE

When Lincoln was President he was interview Hugely by people who disagreed with what he was doing The people said that Lincoln lacked courage and that he didn t know how to manage this republic One day when Lincoln was at work some of these backbiters told Lincoln that they thought about him He then stood up and said Be patriotic I will guide you to the right path my path is Union Still these people were not pleased and they decided that a meeting should be held Notices agreed to the plans that were brought up in the meeting but it was adjourned without any prominent answers

Another time when Lincoln was visiting his battle front two of his guards were killed by Confederate rebels When the guard were buried Lincoln visited their graves There he saw a soldier placing a cross on the guards grave and Lincoln told the soldier of when he planted the cross on his m there s grave He told also about the time when he wrote to Reverend Hilton to go and pray at his mother grave He told the soldier about the time he quarreled with Hay and hurt his feelings Lincoln was ashamed of himself for doing this that he didn t sleep till late When he did go home the prison was waiting for him Lincoln thought he would get a whipping but the prison did not tell Abraham Father Tad that night the prison held a secret meeting at Abraham's grave (The end)

Bits of Byplay

By Luke McLuke

Copyright, 1916, the Cincinnati Enquirer

He Was Too Flype.

A Belgian who lived in old Slype
To the river one day made a trype.
He waded right in
Clear up to his chin,
And now he is nursing the grype.

Paw Knows Everything.

Willie—Paw, do you know everything?

Paw—Yes, my son.

Willie—Well, if two women claimed a thin man as a husband, would he be the bone of contention?

Paw—Young man, you go down in the cellar and fix the furnace.

Tough.

It's easy enough to be pleasant
When the letters you get make a hit,
But the man worth while
Is the man who can smile
When all his mail reads, "Please remit."

Huh!

"A woman's curiosity is always getting her into trouble," growled Mr. Gabb. "Lot's wife rubbered around and turned into a pillar of salt."

"Is that so?" replied Mrs. Gabb. "Well, a man's curiosity gets him into more trouble than that. A man will rubber around and then turn into a saloon."

Metallic.

His voice has a metallic sound,
But do not think this funny;
For all day long he goes around
And talks about his money.

Ouch!

"And do you feel any better today?" asked the doctor.

"Oh, yes, a great deal better," replied the patient. "The thing that troubles me most now is my breathing."

"Well, I'll fix you up something that will stop that," assured the doctor.

There is no sinecure in the soul's economy. Every power has its work to do, every capacity its gift to fill it.—Phillips Brooks.

Her Reflection.

Every time a woman sees a mirror she pauses for awhile to reflect.—Indianapolis Star.

Unrelated Potatoes.

Sweet potatoes have not much in common botanically with their more familiar namesakes. They have long been cultivated as food in tropical and subtropical countries and were actually introduced into England at an earlier date than the common potato. The two tubers were often confounded by writers of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, but the sweet potato won more popularity than its rival. Made into a sweetmeat it was regarded as an excellent invigorator. Sweetish and agreeable to the taste, its flesh forming qualities are considered equal at least to those of the common potato. —London Chronicle.

Help!

In winter time leaves leave the trees
And fade before the chilly breeze,
But cheer up, heart, and do not grieve,
For in the spring the trees will leave.

Please Pass the Coke!

"Where has the cheerful idiot been for the past month?" asked the old fogy.

"Oh, he has been figuring out a scheme to get rich quick," replied the grouch. "He is going to raise chickens."

"How is he going to get rich raising chickens?" asked the old fogy.

"He has it planned ahead," replied the grouch. "He intends to pay 50 cents for a hen. And a hen will raise 20 chicks in a year. That will give him 21 hens at the end of the first year. In the next year the 21 hens will raise 420 hens. Next year the number will be 8,400. The following year there will be 168,000 hens, and next year he will have 3,360,000 hens. That will give him $1,680,000 worth of hens for his fifty cent investment, won't it?"

The Crank.

The crank is a contrary pup;
He always makes me frown,
For, while he's certain to turn up,
It's hard to turn him down.

and said that she supposed the episode of my being there must end and she would never see me again. I assured her that an acquaintance so pleasantly formed would not be suffered by me to come to an end.

I went to Europe and discovered that the estate to which I had fallen heir needed attention. Nevertheless I found my thoughts constantly wandering back to America. And what drew them most forcibly was the young lady whom I had taught music while playing detective.

I never took sufficient interest to inquire whether the balance of the jewelry was discovered or the thief run

They Are Real.

Dear Luke—To settle a dispute please tell me if the names which appear in "Names Is Names" are legitimate names of real people or mere fiction.—J. T. S., Dayton, O.

The names are culled from various sources and are the names of real people. Most of them are sent in by readers with proofs that the names are legitimate.—Luke McLuke.

Things to Worry About.

Thirteen kinds of disease germs have been discovered in the dirt under one finger nail.

Our Daily Special.

Truth isn't stranger than modern fiction.

Luke McLuke Says:

The reason some men have time to loaf around all day and knock their home town is because their wives are taking in washing to pay the rent.

When religion and politics try to sleep in the same bed religion gets pneumonia because politics hogs all the covering.

When they are engaged they know that they are going to live on love and kisses. But after they marry the groceryman and the butcher put an awful dent into his pay envelope.

When five men meet in a saloon and gab for awhile any one of the five will Let In the Sunlight.

All household furnishings should be exposed to direct sunlight for a number of hours every few days. Direct sunlight is the best disinfectant known. It kills germs in a few hours. Diffused sunlight or daylight may have as good effect, but in a much longer time. Shutting the sunlight out of the house is an unhygienic custom. It should go as has gone many of the ideas and customs belonging to the dark ages. Germs live and thrive in darkness. For that reason sunshine should find its way into the home daily, and its presence should be welcomed as a messenger of cleanliness and good health. The drawing of shades and the closing of windows to keep the carpets and draperies from fading should be discouraged. It is better to have carpets and draperies that are faded than to have boys and girls with cheeks that are faded. Roses in the cheeks are more valuable than roses in the carpet.

How to Fit a Horse Collar.

A collar should be fitted to the horse and not the horse to the collar. The collar that is too large should not be used on a horse in the hope that he will grow large enough so it will eventually fit. A collar that fits well in the spring may not fit at all in the fall.

When one is fitting a horse with a collar the animal should be standing in a natural position on level ground, with his head held at the height maintained while at work. The collar when buckled should fit snugly to the side of the neck, and its face should follow closely and be in even contact with the surface of the shoulders from the top of the withers to the region of his throat. At the throat there should be enough room for a man's hand to be inserted inside the collar.—Farm and Fireside.

Waste in Food.

"Eat what is on your plate" may seem to many people to be a new table precept, yet it has been practiced for many years in certain little communities nestled among the rugged hills of New England, where the waste of food is regarded as almost a crime. Hanging on the walls of many houses in these communities may be found the "Table Monitor," perhaps worked in worsted or cardboard and setting forth this sentiment, which somehow has a characteristic old time New England ring:

Prosperity may roll with ample flow,
Still to be prized, that it may widely bless.
The world is full enough of want and woe;
I will not mock with selfish wastefulness.

People Who Rarely Wink.

There are people who rarely wink. How they manage to get along without doing so is a marvel, but somehow or other they do. Some eyes are naturally more moist than others, and the very moist eye does not so much need the assistance of the lids to keep the eyeball bright. It is a constitutional matter, for winking, though under the control of the will, is done so quickly that it is practically an involuntary action. Men wink when they feel that the eye is uncomfortably dry, and when it does not become dry the necessity for winking is not felt.

First Veterinary School.

As nearly as the facts can be got at, the first veterinary school was founded in the city of Lyons, France, about the middle of May of the year 1761. Since 1761 veterinary schools have spread all over the civilized world, especially in Germany, France, England and the United States of America, in which advanced countries the horse has the benefit of as fine a science as that which exists for his master, man.

Her Proposal.

"Ah, George, did you propose to Vivian?"

"No. She made the proposal before I had a chance to say anything."

"She did? What did she say?"

"She proposed that I should leave the house immediately, and I did."

Simplicity.

I am convinced, both by faith and experience, that to maintain oneself on this earth is not a hardship, but a pastime if we will live simply and wisely, as the pursuits of the simpler nations are still the sports of the more artificial.—Thoreau.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Measles.

"Every rise in temperature of a child should mean isolation as completely as if that child were in fact afflicted with an acute contagious disease," says the Medical Record in discussing means for the prevention of measles. By a "rise in temperature" is understood any temperature higher than 99 degrees F.

For measles is most infectious in its earliest stages, when the symptoms are generally only those of a cold in the head. The typical rash has not yet appeared, but the child is sneezing, blowing a minute spray from its nose with every sneeze. This spray is laden with the germs of the disease. These germs are scattered through the air of the home or the schoolroom and inhaled by the noses of brothers and sisters or schoolmates.

It is then, far more than when the disease has developed to the easily recognizable stage, that infection is spread; therefore it is then that the child must be isolated.

More Satisfactory.

A poetic contributor recently submitted to a magazine an effusion, entitled "The Lay of the Lark." It was returned with this editorial note:

"Rejected with thanks. Send a few specimens of the lay of the hen just now. We will gladly accept them."

Busy Listening.

"I bought my wife a parrot last week."

"Can he talk?"

"I don't know. He hasn't had a chance yet."—New York World.

Wise.

There was an old fellow in Tout
Who found winter fighting too cout.
Said he, "I am for
The man who said war
Was hell, for that lad was no fout."

His Own Fault.

The old miser in the story who dropped a five dollar gold piece in the plate at church, mistaking it for a nickel, could get no great satisfaction out of the deacon, as will be recalled, but he was not the man to give up easily.

Accordingly he sought legal advice with a view of instituting a suit at law.

But the lawyer whom he consulted was one of those rare and gifted souls who would much rather be witty than rich—or almost anything else for that matter.

"Sir," said he at once, "you have no case. You were guilty of contributory negligence."—Exchange.

St. Peter's cathedral in Rome will accommodate 54,000 people.

As They Once Were.

"Mamma, did you ever wear a hoopskirt?" asked Bessie, who had been reading about the birdcage skirts of the days long ago.

"No, dear. I never wore one, but grandma did."

"Grandma! Why, how did she ever put her cane on the ground?" asked Bessie.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Chances Only Fair.

A judge who is blessed with a tremendous head of hair, which is generally in a state of wild disorder, was questioning a youthful witness to make sure that he comprehended the character and importance of the oath he was about to take.

"Boy," he said in his severest and most magisterial manner, "do you feel that you could identify me after six months? Now, be careful. Think before you speak."

"Well, your honor," replied the boy after a prolonged survey of the great judge, "I ain't dead sure, but I think I could if you wasn't to comb your hair." —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Miles and Knots.

A circle is divided into 21,600 minutes of arc. It is supposed that the circumference of the earth at the equator is 24,898.5928 miles. But a knot or nautical mile equals this number of statute miles divided by 21,600, which, performed and reduced to feet, gives 6,086.8, the legal statute mile being 5,280 feet.

The Russian railways employ dog ear spikes for fastening the rail to the track.

Lecture!

Some folks will say that you are dense.
Some say you're overrated;
You must be your own audience

Poems You May Not Care to Read.

Kindly notify Will Ater
If a dead one you have got.
Either phone will bring his wagon,
For he's John'e on the spot.
You don't need to call the sexton,
You will have no bills to pay.
Simply tell Will where he's lying,
He will take the horse away.
You don't need to dig for hours
In the gravel or the clay;
Ater's ready with his wagon
For to take your dead away.
So if you should be the loser
Of a horse or hog or goat,
Call for Ater and his wagon,
He'll come out and eat the bloat.
What a blessing to this country,
Bill will go where devils tread
To remove the bloated carcass
Of a horse or hog that's dead.
